

AI Policy Starter Kit — Start Here

Thank you for your purchase. This kit gives you everything you need to adopt a clear, plain-language AI policy your whole team will actually read.

What's in your download

File	What it is
01-ai-policy-template.docx	Your editable AI policy — open in Word or Google Docs and fill in the bracketed fields
02-traffic-light-data-guide.pdf	A one-page Green / Amber / Red guide to pin up or add to your staff handbook
03-staff-acknowledgement-form.docx	A short form for each staff member and key volunteer to sign
05-website-ai-statements.docx	Four ready-to-adapt public statements about how you use AI — from a one-line footer note to a full page — plus an honest brief on whether to publish sectors/...	Four tailored intros — pick the one that fits you (business, church, not-for-profit, or school)

Five steps to adopt it

1. Open the sector intro that fits you and read the framing and examples.
2. Open `01-ai-policy-template.docx`. Work through it with your leadership team. Anything in [square brackets] is a prompt for you to write in your own voice.
3. Fill in your Approved AI Tools table and pin up the Traffic Light guide.
4. Have every staff member and key volunteer sign the Acknowledgement Form.
5. Adopt it, date it, and review it once a year.
6. (Optional) If you want to be transparent publicly, adapt one of the four Website AI Statements — the brief inside helps you decide whether to publish.

The one rule to remember

When in doubt, leave it out. Never put personal or confidential information about the people you serve into a public AI tool.

Want it written for you?

If you'd rather have the policy tailored to your organisation instead of doing it yourself, that's a quick upgrade — reply to your purchase email, or see the options at nathanielbaldock.com/products.

*Nathaniel Baldock — AI Consulting New Zealand & Global · nathanielbaldock.com
Grounded in the NZ Privacy Act 2020 and international AI governance standards
(UNESCO, OECD, ISO/IEC 42001:2023, NIST AI RMF). Not legal advice.*